3. A firm arrangement has been worked out with the Chief of the Recruitment Staff and with the OTR Placement Officer to maintain lists of possible JOT candidates in whom this office has expressed interest pending opportunity to test them. Heretofore no such records have been kept in either office. This being true, the problem of scheduling testing in far distant places has been unusually complicated.

4. The Chief of this Division has had a number of discussions with the committee making the study to the I.G. on JO morale. He has been assured that they are interested in cooperating with him in improving the JOT Program and its administration. As yet, the accuracy and validity of some of the comments have not been determined. Since these factors depend greatly on identifying the individual concerned, the time in which he did his training, and other matters that are pertinent to his personal characteristics, there may be difficulty in solving some of the problems. In general, however, it is anticipated that much profit can be developed from this report.

5. [REDACTED] has reported in Washington for duty after completing the external portion of his OCS Program. He was sponsored by FE.

6. [REDACTED] completed his Admin Course with three superiors; five excellents; one satisfactory; and one poor, the last being in accounting in which he had had no previous experience.
